Poaching Penalties

HARRISBURG – Anthony Mark Marasco, 38, of Pittsburgh Street in Cheswick, Allegheny County, was sentenced to pay more than $4,750 in fines and serve two 90-day concurrent prison sentences after being convicted of his fourth poaching-related offense in 13 years, according to Pennsylvania Game Commission officials. Marasco is the first to be sentenced to prison under the new fines and penalties for poaching that took effect in September. Game Commission Wildlife Conservation Officer (WCO) Dan Puhala filed charges against Marasco in the office of District Judge Elissa M. Lang, in Sharpsburg. On Jan. 20, Lang found Marasco guilty of the following:

- Unlawfully killing big game (turkey) over the limit, for which the judge assessed a fine of $1,500 and 90 days imprisonment;
- Unlawfully hunting while on license revocation, for which the judge assessed a fine of $1,500 and 90 days imprisonment;
- Unlawfully shooting on or across a highway, for which the judge assessed a fine of $300;
- Unlawfully hunting from a vehicle, for which the judge assessed a fine of $500; and
- Unlawfully taking or possessing game, for which the judge assessed a fine of $450, which is the result this most recent offense being a second and/or subsequent violation within a seven-year period.

Also, under the “enhanced penalties” section of the Game and Wildlife Code, Judge Lang added an additional $500 to the total fines, of which the witness is eligible for a $250 reward. According to WCO Puhala, Marasco’s most recent incident in November was preceded by three deer-related convictions, beginning in 1997, followed by convictions in 2003 and 2007.

“The habitual nature of Marasco’s poaching offenses left little room for leniency,” Puhala said.

On Nov. 6, as WCO Puhala and Deputy WCO Art Haren came were on patrol, they were contacted by the Fox Chapel Police Department, who had stopped an apparent turkey poacher based on an anonymous tip.

“When we arrived on scene, Marasco was in his truck, along with his bow and some arrows, and was returning to the scene to pick up the turkey he had just shot with his compound bow along Trillium Lane in Fox Chapel,” WCO Puhala said. “We found that he saw the flock of turkeys from his truck, got out and shot a hen from the road, then left the area to return a short time later.

“Marasco has had his hunting privileges suspended for his previous game law violations, and remained on revocation for failure to pay more than $800 in fines assessed for offenses dating back to 1997.”

The law to increase fines and penalties for poaching was made possible by House Bill 1859, which was sponsored by House Game and Fisheries Committee Chairman Edward G. Staback. The bill was approved by the House on July 21, 2009, by a vote of 196-3. The Senate, after making minor adjustments to the bill, approved the measure unanimously on July 3, 2010, followed by a 189-6 concurrence vote in the House also on July 3. The bill was signed into law on July 9, making it Act 54 of 2010.

Sunday Hunting Could Be Economic Boon For Pennsylvania

U.S. Sportsmen’s Alliance 10/21/11

Legalizing hunting on Sundays in Pennsylvania could generate up to $804 million in economic activity annually, according to a report issued Wednesday. The report was prepared for Pennsylvania’s Legislative Budget and Finance Committee and it reveals that Sunday hunting in the state could create 7,439 full- and part-time jobs and generate $56.8 million in state and local taxes. Those numbers are “stunning,” said Crawford County Republican Rep. John Evans. “We were expecting the report to show something on the order of $700 million in possible economic activity, so for it to come in that much closer to a billion dollars, that’s amazing. Those are big numbers,” said Evans. The study — an update of a similar one done in 2005 — was commissioned because the state is again considering whether to drop its prohibition on Sunday hunting. Pennsylvania is one of just 11 states with such a ban still in place. Evans, chairman of Pennsylvania’s House of Representatives game and fisheries committee, has introduced House Bill 1760, which would not mandate hunting on Sundays. Rather, it would give the Pennsylvania Game Commission the authority to decide if and when to incorporate Sundays into hunting seasons.

“Those kinds of numbers are hard to ignore,” he said. Some lawmakers and others have in the past, though, questioned the validity of assumptions that adding Sundays to the hunting calendar would prompt sportsmen to travel more and/or buy more gear. Such concerns are unfounded said Rob Southwick, president of Southwick Associates, the Florida-based natural resources research firm that did the study.

“Think about it: Would you be more inclined to buy a GPS if you only drove a car once a week, or if you drove three, or four, or five times a week, or every day?" Southwick asked. "In my 20-plus years of experience, yes, people will spend more money on equipment if they have more time to use it."

Still, the report concluded that even if Sunday hunting didn't prompt hunters to travel more, permitting hunting on that day would generate $677 million in economic activity. Subtract additional spending on travel and gear, and it would generate $496 million.

The study's economic impact figures are very close to those in similar studies commissioned earlier this year by the U.S. Sportsmen's Alliance and National Shooting Sports Foundation, added Evan Heusinkveld, director of state services for the Alliance. That's why he finds them very believable, he said.

"And it's easy money," he said. "You talk about shovel-ready? This isn't something you have to ramp up for years to see any benefits. It's there. And it's there every year. All lawmakers have to do is give sportsmen the right to do what they want on Sundays, just like every other citizen."

Debate about the issue will continue. Right now, most Democrats seem to support the bill, Evans said. But he needs to get more support from the members of his own party, he added.

He said he hopes to get that as sportsmen continue lobbying their case, and as lawmakers hear more from Southwick and others at a third and final hearing on Sunday hunting in Harrisburg next Thursday.

Hunting Dogs Featured for November Meeting

The next scheduled meeting of the Delaware County Field and Stream Association will be held on Wednesday, November 4, in the club house at 8 pm.

The main business for the meeting will be the annual club election of its executive officers for the next year to be followed by the program of education and entertainment for all members to enjoy.

According to Carmen Martino, chairmen of entertainment, the meeting will be dedicated to all who are or have been looking for a hunting dog. There will be two "great" films on dog training, covering all phases of breeding and training of hunting dogs. There will also be refreshments and a door prize.

Air Rifle Blasts

By Ed DeRienze

That time of the year arrived when this club's airgunners are busy trying to get the Airgun Field Target Range in shape for the big championship match scheduled this year for Sunday, November 1. Over the past month several members have been active in cutting brush, refurbishing targets and making the range presentable to the many visitors and contestants who will be attending that day. Range officers, Pete Kondratowicz and Joe Napolillo were ably assisted by Jim Ingeno in getting things started. Members, Jim Henry, Tim Sheckley and Mark Ennis contributed their time and even Bobbie the Barber showed up to cut some brush with his powerful weed whacker!

The match will be 50 targets, mostly knock-over type with the string reset feature and will be shot in groups of three with one person to score for each group. The match will begin at 8am and will run up to 3pm. Contestants may register, one time only, up to 11am. The fee is $5 for adults and $3 for juniors under 16. The highest score shot by a club member will be declared Club Champion and will be awarded a beautiful embroidered jacket commemorating the event.

Because this match is to be shot over the stretch of our course that runs behind the shot gun fields, as in the past, the shotgunners have graciously offered to close their ranges for the entire day. We appreciate this find show sportsmanship and are grateful for their cooperation. Thank you Carmen Matino, Skip Barber and Tom O'Chuida, Chief Range Officers of the various shotgun fields.

Attention All Members!!!

The club recently lost member and employee John Bell. John's family has informed us that they will selling his collection of fire arms at auction. Alderfer Auctioneers will conducting the sale some time in the beginning of the year. John's collection consisted of over 150 fire arms including pistols, rifles and shot guns. Look for more information here and in the club house.

The Airgun Range is looking for any scopes that members might want to donate to their range. If you might have something laying around the house, please feel free to bring into the club office and we will see that it gets to Airgun.

In the last issue of the Club News the article discussing NHF day, the member that was kind enough to donated the use of his cannon was missed. Dr. Laskas has a true love of Black Powder and obviously his cannons. Thank You Dr. Laskas for your generosity. Also helping out that day were Tom Eno, Ray Uhla and Rich Napoli.

Congratulations goes out to member Bob Beyers for receiving his Gold card membership for being a member for over 50 years!!!
